

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to a radio wave-transmitting, wavelength-selective plate, which is characterized in that a layer
5 composed of Ag fine particles is formed and that the central portions of the Ag fine particles contain an alloy (Ag alloy) formed of Ag and a metal which forms a homogeneous solid solution with Ag (hereinafter referred to as a homogeneous solid solution metal).